

THIS LITTLE PIGGY KNOWS

GOOD BBQ!

To be eligible for the Best BBQ Hot Spot list, a restaurant must be taste-tested—without notice or announcement—by an affiliate of Barbecue News. This honor is awarded for a one-year period. At the end of that year, the restaurant is re-tested in the same manner to determine if it qualifies for the following year.

Being named a Best BBQ Hot Spot is a true privilege reserved for restaurants that meet this prestigious standard.

Eligible restaurants purchase an ad on the Best BBQ Hot Spot pages in the Barbecue News digital issue, running monthly for the year the restaurant is eligible. The cost is $600 per year, which includes a 1.75" x 1.75" digital ad published in 12 monthly digital issues, a direct link to your website in each issue, and placement on the Barbecue Restaurant Guide tab on our website with a direct link.

Additionally, restaurants receive a Best BBQ Hot Spot certificate and a press release distributed to local media announcing their recognition.

(The cost may be paid in full or in two bi-annual installments.)
